

Year 6 Homework – SATs Prep

09-05-16

We believe in growing the whole child, in every child. To that end, we endeavour to nurture fully rounded children balanced in mind, body and spirit.

The prep set for our year 6 pupils on Friday 6th May has proven to be very popular with many people. It recognises the enormous amount of hard work and dedication invested by children passionate about learning. It also reflects our beliefs about education and the recognition that outcomes from tests at eleven years old do not dictate who you are or who you might become.

We absolutely recognise the value of assessment. It is at the centre of excellent practice in schools. What children value is understanding where they are, what the goal is and guidance on how to close the gap. Whether it is teacher feedback, peer dialogue or a summative test, assessment is best for the child when it seeks to identify gaps in learning upon which future teaching can be based.

Across our school year, we strive to provide an education based on knowing every child, enabling personalised provision that is exceptionally delivered. If and when we get it right, we will be passing on rounded pupils truly ready for the next stage of their education, able to converse, think, and reflect in a wide range of contexts beyond the remit of national curriculum tests.
